Adams St. Phone 1997 tf with the Broadway crowd. They insist that acknowledgement cannot injure a person socially as all Fifth avenue coves over of an evening, to Broadway. On the other hand those in the know circular. I. Hogrewe, 108 S. 11th Ave. readily admit this, but they say that, 12-d while the gay white way is the one = place in New York where the two halves of the social world meet, no one point out that the distance between Fifth avenue and Broadway, as the 9th street car crawls, is only two city blocks, but, as the Social Register knows, no one is hardy enough to cover except traveling "anonymously." And apparently Mrs. Palmer is going to protect her "incognita." "I don't know why the police keep on questioning me about my companlons," she sighed. "I certainly don't PHONE 1831 know who these men were who robbed Phone 1997 - 17 W. "Gentlemen Burglars" The police theory is that the job was done by confederates of "lounge lizards"-New York's new adptation of "gentlemen burgiars." They believe hat certain hangers-on in big Broadway dancing palaces notice Mrs. Palmer, always loaded down with magnificent jewels, were introduced to her nd perhaps even danced with her, and of to know her quite well. They want o find out the name of every acquaintnce of this sort she has made in the past few months so they can trace his ntecendents.

But Mrs. Palmer , bruised and still rightened from her experience, says. You know I didn't often go over on realway. This was rather an exceptional experience for me. I really know only exclusive people. So I am sure telling the details of my private life cannot possibly help the police to solve the mystery!

The police, on the other hand, say they are blocked until Mrs. Palme
